New Time Confusion

By this time people have adjusted themselves fairly well to the new clock time, but there were some amusing incidents here last Sunday morning. A well-known man, who had important engagements here and in Monterey, was careful on Saturday night to set his clock back an hour, instead of forward; there was a rude awakening. Another, who makes it a rule always to attend church on Easter, arrived at the house of worship just in time to miss the collection. One of the stage-drivers made the early trip to Monterey without breakfast, assuming that the new time was to be inaugurated on Monday. Several were an hour late for trains.

Carmel Third Liberty Loan Rally

Manzanita Theatre should be crowded to the doors on Friday night, April 12.

This is the time and place selected for the holding of a patriotic rally and boost meeting for the Third Liberty Loan.

Every lover of "My Own United States" is expected to be present. He and she should bring to the meeting a flag to wave and a voice to cheer and sing.

This affair will be the most enthusiastic patriotic meeting ever held in Monterey County.

Carmel Martin, dyed-in-the-wool patriot, has promised to come over from Monterey to give us an inspiring address. His fellow-townsmen, Edgar E. James, will explain the bonds. Secretary William G. McAdoo will send a message to be read at the meeting. And our own school children will sing new and old patriotic songs.

It is your duty to attend this loyalty gathering.

This week's moving picture show takes place tonight, owing to the Red Cross masque ball on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Puffer, who were here during the summer of 1916, are again in Carmel for an indefinite stay.

If the stories are true concerning the number of German sympathizers residing in Carmel, there should be an internment camp here.

At Alameda, on March 24, Miss Florence S. Herrick, who used to be a Carmelite, and Chester Vanderburgh, were married.

For summer visitors, The Pine Cone three months for 40 cents.

You will have the pleasure and the Red Cross will get the money. The Manzanita Club masquerade ball occurs on Saturday of this week.

Mrs. R. B. Hughes and family are shortly to leave Carmel, to make their home in Los Angeles. Their going is regretted by many friends here.

This is a date to keep: "A Night Off," with a cast of all-star Carmel players, will be presented at Arts and Crafts Hall on Friday evening, April 19. Take a night off and go.

Back to the ranch for Frank Hatton. After several months of training, it has been discovered that he is physically unfit for military service. Now he will do a bit in an agricultural way.

Many Summer Plays

The coming summer will be a very busy one in Carmel in things dramatic. The Forest Theatre Society has decided to give two performances each of a main and of a secondary play on the nights of July 3, 4, 5 and 6.

The main play is yet to be determined upon. "Peter Pan" is being discussed as the other offering. The Red Cross is again to be the beneficiary.

In addition to the foregoing, the Western Drama Society, the Arts and Crafts Club, and Garnet Holmes' University of California Players have asked for dates in July and August, which will be granted.

All Americans Can Serve

Every man, woman and child in this country, who wants to serve the country, can serve it and serve it in a very simple and effective way, says Secretary McAdoo.

That service is to lend your money to the government. Every 25 cents loaned to the government is a help at this time and practically every man, woman and child, by making some trifling sacrifice, some denial of a pleasure, or giving up some indulgence, can render the government that support.

Matters That Should Be Considered Before Casting Your Vote at Next Monday's Election

To the People of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea:

The statements of October 4, 1916, quoted in last week's article, were in the main correct at the time they were made, but they were based upon deductions drawn from rather limited data. How difficult this is to obtain until knowledge of how and where to get it are developed, any trustee will testify.

In the matter of saving the $1800 road tax formerly paid to the county, this is now represented by $1400 that would have gone out of the town were it not incorporated.

In the matter of salaries, the city has now five paid officers, instead of two, as in the first estimate. The additional paid officers are: A treasurer, at $5 a month; a recorder, at $5, and an attorney, at $20.

It has been said that any one can frame an ordinance; that is possible. But to make one that will not at some time involve the city in a loss by suit for damages, etc., is another matter, for we are a corporation to "sue and be sued." The necessity for absolute legality of ordinances may be gauged by the 892 citations quoted in the Handbook for City Officials of actions against cities testing the legality of such ordinances. The above number does not by any means represent the total number of cases brought throughout the State. The loss of a single case might well cost more than the amount of the city attorney's salary for a long period.

In selecting the appointive officers of Carmel by the Sea efficiency alone was considered. In the case of the attorney, he is a member of a legal firm, the members of which are attorneys for the municipalities of Pacific Grove and Monterey; we therefore have at our command at all times the advice and judgment of men actively employed in solving municipal problems.

The same efficiency applies in the case of the marshal. The present official was not appointed until two months after incorporation; not until a careful canvass of all the names offered had been made and inquiry completed as to what constituted a sufficient officer. The Board wanted a patrol of this town, and we have it. It has been remarked that no arrests have been made. An arrest means confinement before trial, making a jail and all that entails necessary. An arrest for vagrancy is an expense to the town every time. I do not recall the number of undesirables escorted beyond the city limits, but the number is considerable. Minor infractions of the law that have been checked are too numerous to mention. The salary paid the marshal has been complained of. It is in keeping with the duty required of marshals in small communities, as far as we could ascertain; where the whole time is given to the service. Further, the marshal provides his star and his uniform, he provides a horse and feeds it—the last item being no small matter with feed at present price. He is tax collector, license collector, pound master, and ex officio health officer.

There are many items in the city expense account that either did not appear at all in the early estimates or that were figured much too low. Some of these expenses are demanded by enactment, others follow as unavoidable necessities. One item will illustrate. In the estimate made at the mass meeting of October, 1916, $2 a meeting, or $24 per year, was allowed for the trustees' meeting place. It is mandatory that the board have a fixed place of meeting and that its records be kept in a fire proof safe. So altogether there was necessitated an expenditure of $313.09 for that item. The same with the city books; the estimate was $50, and they cost approximately $250; we thought we knew, but we did not.

Now the matter of city streets. When the board went into office it had no money. The first thing the members did at the first meeting was to chip in a dollar each for postage and stationery, hence the first item in the financial statement, "Donation, $5." We were allowed by law to establish a credit with a bank for the payment of salaries. After much pressing, the board obtained a fund of nearly all the unexpended road money, amounting to $958.16, the last and largest payment being made late in the year. The greater part of the income for 1917 was expended before it was received. The unforeseen and the necessities left nothing for street work.

The board has one big "kick" against the people: That is, that, although by statute the meetings must be open to the public, and one item of the order of business is "Receiving oral communications," there have not been above two persons in attendance at the twenty-five or thirty meeting held who were there to learn what was going on or to offer suggestions of any nature. All sorts of wild outside talk has been indulged in as to how things ought to have been done, but none took the trouble to learn if there was any legal block in the way of carrying out their ideas.

The total revenue of the city for 1918 will be in the neighborhood of $3500. Salaries, fire protection, street lights, printing, assessment books, etc., will consume $2800, thus leaving for street work and miscellaneous expenses about $700. Miscellaneous is a very unknown quantity in city management, so that street work can not go beyond $400 or $500 at the most.

There are thirteen miles of streets in this city. The board is considering the construction of four and one half miles of them. To accomplish this on $500 a year, or even $1000 a year, from city taxes is out of the question.

There are provided by law two or three methods of funding street construction. One method provides for extending the payments over a period of fifteen years, making the annual cost relatively small. By any of the methods provided, the expense of the work is charged directly against the property facing the improvement, and is not a charge against the whole city, as was the case in the construction of the present sanitary district sewer.

The preliminary work in street improvement is about the same in any funding method. The first requirement is the grade survey. That has been completed, though the full report is not yet in. The estimates are being made for an eighteen-foot, curbed, oil macadam roadway, with four inches of oil macadam surface on a six inch clay-sand base, instead of two and one-half inches of oil macadam on a five-inch clay-sand base, as in the case of the county road on San Carlos avenue. It is expected that the cost of street work of this character can be made to approximate the county road cost, as the rock used on that work was from the Paparo quarry, which has to bear a high first cost, and also freight and hauling charges. Local rock has been submitted, tested and passed, that will cost at least one-half less.

Methods of payment. Such as assessments for the work shall be payable in annual series; that is to say, if the bonds run for fifteen years, each installment of principal shall be one-fifteenth of the whole principal sum of the assessment, together with interest each year on the principal that is unpaid. The interest naturally decreases yearly on account of the annual one-fifteenth decrease of principal. It has been erroneously stated that the interest on the total amount of the assessment must be paid for the full term. This is so obviously out of reason that serious thought should not be given it.

Why so expensive a roadway?

The chairman of the Board of Trustees appointed the members of the board a committee of the whole to obtain information, and the sum of the information gained in various cities was of the following type: "Do work only of the most permanent character" and "If you do not do permanent work, maintenance will eat you up." Very much more information could be given did space permit.

It is provided in the act that a resolution of intention be passed, and that notice of improvement be posted along the streets. A time for hearing protests is set, and upon the amount of protest hangs the future work. The matter is up to the property owners.

The following is submitted for thought:

The revenue of the inhabitants of the place is based upon three things—literature, art, the sale of real estate and the leasing of houses. The authors and artists, especially those who have no means of transportation, would leave things as they are for the sake of cost and appearance. That is their point of view. Those who have property for sale or who derive benefit from house leasing and those who have their own means of transportation have a different view. The matter of transportation is more or less vital to them, as it directly affects their income. Better streets spell more visitors, purchasers and renters. Others whose incomes are derived from outside sources and who have automobiles are demanding such access to their homes as will not send their machines to the shop for repairs every few weeks.

Referring to Pacific Grove. The men who conceived a 25-foot lot could see nothing but a clear street. The pulling down of the hotel is a matter of "booze." It did not pay without it; Pacific Grove visitors are not hotel dwelling people; hotel dwelling people want all the comforts of a hotel.

There is just one other exception to last week's article. Permanent streets will not increase the cost of city government, but permanent streets will require a certain sum from the lot-holders on improved streets.

The issue is squarely up to the people.

Judge and Mrs. C. H. Pond and Mrs. Roberts are now at Sausalito. Their guest, Mrs. Knettle, is at the St. Francis in San Francisco.

We shall miss Miss Tolmie, whose splendid voice has charmed guests of La Playa during her month's stay. She sang a solo at the old Mission on Easter.

Miss Anna Head, who visited her niece, Mrs. Blake, has returned to Berkeley. The Blakes will remain another week.

Musical Notes

"Tell Me, O Muse, Thy Charm," sung by Miss Alice Holman at the benefit concert, was published in Musical Courier last July, and referred to editorially as "a great art song," was written by Count Axel Raoul Wachmeister, who was a Carmel sojourner for some months last year.

Charles Wakefield Cadman, who visited here in 1914, is having his opera, "Shanewis" which is based on North American Indian material, put on at the Metropolitan Opera House. Alice Gentle, a Californian, is soprano.

The program of the Easter concert at Arts and Crafts Hall was as follows:

Trio, Andante Allegro, Haydn—Francesca Bendke, Alice Holman, Valborg Leland.

Chanson et Polonaise, Wieniawski—Francis E. Lloyd Jr.

Berceuse, Russian folk song, "Tell Me, O Muse, Thy Charm," Wachmeister—Alice Holman.

Air on G String, Obertass, Matteoson, Wieniawski.

Selected Songs—Mrs. Frances C. Pudan.

Polonaise, Wieniawski.

Trio, Andante Adagio, Haydn.

Helen Hicks and her brother, Waldo, gave a most interesting recital at Qui Studo last Friday evening. Little Phyllis Carrington assisted with a splendidly rendered musical monologue. As usual, when Mother Carrington gives these public affairs, there was a large attendance.

Debussy, the great French composer, is dead. It has been said of him, that "perhaps the most important service he rendered the world was accomplished when he brought about the present complete emancipation of French musical art from the thralldom of Teutonism."

Interesting happenings

Of the 284 voters who registered in Carmelo precinct up to March 8, it is estimated that 210 will take part in the city election next Monday.

The Red Cross masque ball takes place on Saturday night of this week. Go in costume, if you can; if not, as a spectator. There will be good music and odd stunts.

The U. S. Forest Service has commenced to issue weekly reports showing the condition of automobile roads in the National Forests of California.

The voters of Carmel Valley and of the Coast section want a voting precinct of their own. Carmelo precinct, in which they are now located, has over 400 voters. A new precinct would not oblige these voters to come to Carmel-by-the-Sea for county and state elections.

Mrs. L. B. Hinkley, who came here with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Puffer, is from Waupun, Wis. She is a much-traveled lady, and is delighted with Carmel.

The Carmel Audubon Society will not meet again until Tuesday April 16, at 3 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Beardsley.

St. Anne's Guild meets at the home of Mrs. R. B. Hughes this afternoon.

Chambers is Shocked

John S. Chambers, State Controller, was a visitor in Carmel last Tuesday. This is Mr. Chambers' first visit here. In an interview with the editor of the Pine Cone, Mr. Chambers said:

"Carmel is a beautiful spot, too grand a place to endure such streets as you have here. I was really shocked when I entered the city to see such poor roadways.

"Our experience in Sacramento proves conclusively that in a small or large town there is no comfort, efficiency or economy in putting down cheap streets. It does not matter how little you put down, but what is constructed should be substantial and permanent. It pays in the long run."

The School Election

The most gratifying part of last Friday's election here was the popular interest shown in the conduct of our school. The largest vote ever cast in a Carmel school election was recorded, 129 citizens voting. The local vote stood: Miss M. E. Mower, 58; W. L. Overstreet, 71. There was no opposition to Carmel Martin and John Scudder for high school trustees.

Easter at the Mission

The interior of Carmel Mission was in glorious array for the Easter service. The decorations were beautiful, especially on and near the altar. Four valuable candlesticks, the gift of Louis W. Hill, were in use for the first time.

Father R. M. Mestres preached a simple, forceful sermon. In addition to solos by Miss Miss Tolmie and Mlle. Critico, Mrs. H. Bremner led a splendid chorus.

City Recorder Named

At the monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees on Tuesday night, on motion of Trustee Beardsley, Thos. B. Reardon was appointed City Recorder.

The Treasurer reported $791 on hand. Bills amounting to $244 were approved.

What Does "War Time" Mean To You

Are you complaining because "war time" means coal shortage; less sugar in your coffee; bad business; less money than you think you ought to make?

What about the boys who are fighting for you in France?

For you—a little economy and deprivation. For them the trenches; the pitiless storms of rain and sleet; the ceaseless deafening bombardment of the guns; hunger, cold and fever; wounds and death.

That you may dwell in peace, plenty, and security, they sacrifice everything, give everything, brave everything, and face a nameless grave with a smile and a song.

What are you doing, or giving, or sacrificing for them?

The Third Liberty Loan

is your opportunity to prove the patriotism that is in your heart and on your lips.

Your opportunity to show yourself worthy of the heroism, the devotion, the self-renunciation of your soldiers and sailors.

Your opportunity to share, in some small degree, the sufferings of those who stand ready to make the supreme sacrifice for you.

All you can do is little enough. You simply lend your money. Do it, and be glad that you can do so much and sorry you can do no more.

There is but one sure road to victory—the decisive defeat of the German army. The kaiser will be ready to surrender Belgium and northern France only when his puppets are driven out by force of arms.

There is but one sure road to victory, and it must be built on the Liberty Bonds of a loyal and devoted American people. On this road, and this road alone, can our splendid democratic army drive through to Berlin.

Lest We Forget to Do Our Part

THEY say, who have come back from Over There, that at night the troubled earth between the lines is carpeted with pain. They say that Death rills a whistling in every wind, and that the very mists are charged with awful torment. They say that of all things spent and squandered there young human life is held least dear. It is not the pleasantest prospect for those of us who yet can feel upon our lips the pressure of our mothers' good-bye kiss. But, please God, our love of life is not so prized as love of right. In this renaissance of our country's valor, we who will edge the wedge of her assault make calm acceptance of its hazards. For us the steel-swept trench, the stiffening cold, weariness, hardship, worse. For you for whom we go, you millions safe at home—what for you? We shall need food. We shall need care. We shall need clothes for our bodies and weapons for our hands. We shall need terribly and without failure supplies and equipment in a stream that is constant and never-ending. From you who are our resource and reliance, who are the heart and hope of that humanity for which we smite and strive, must come these things.—Citizen Soldier in February Drama League Monthly.

A Protest

Mr. W. L. Overstreet,
Editor, Carmel Pine Cone.
My dear sir:

Why do you give so much notice in your paper of the prevalence of poison oak in Carmel?

No doubt a number of persons will be dissuaded from coming to Carmel this year through the publication of the items referred to.

Poison oak is no more abundant in Carmel than in other sections of the State, and it is unfair to our town to publish it as a poison oak center.

During my eight years' residence in Carmel I have not had an attack of poison oak, nor am I immune from it. I merely avoid it. If people will tramp over it and brush against it, they may expect an attack. I warn my friends to give it a wide berth.

Please stop knocking Carmel with poison oak.

To the Voters of Carmel-by-the-Sea

We, the undersigned candidates for City Trustee at the election on April 8, are in favor of good, plain roads, suitable to the simplicity and conditions of Carmel. These roads can be made of material close at hand, at a very moderate cost, and can be repaired quickly and at small expense, thereby saving any lien upon the property, which would be a detriment, if not absolutely prohibiting its sale.

We are in favor of a decrease in the cost of the city government, and are opposed to the increased assessed valuation of property, which means increased taxation.

Respectfully

William T. Kibbler

Courtland J. Arne
